CONGRESSMAN TUCKER

The writer last saw Congressman Harry St. George Tucker at the Surrender Grounds here last fall. He was here with the fine arts commission to select a site and plan for the proposed memorial, which he had sponsored in Congress. This service was typical of the man, and when the shaft is erected it will be a memorial to Mr. Tucker as well as to the heroes of 1860-65.

When Mr. Tucker died his Lexington home Saturday morning, he was a leader who saw the toils and problems of two generations come and go, he kept his outlook fresh and constructive all the way to the end.

It is fitting that the old tenth district passes with Mr. Tucker. It was a tribute to the term in which he was elected that he was unopposed for nomination in the new seventh district.

The political and social life of this district he served and of Virginia is richer because of the life and achievements of Harry St. George Tucker and we pause now to doff our hats as the bugle tolls "taps" for a famous Democrat.

MR. TUCKER'S SUCCESSOR

The Times-Virginian is willing to leave to Senator Ferguson ultimate decision as to whether or not he shall offer his name for the office of Congressman from the seventh district of Virginia, to succeed the late Mr. Tucker. But even before such decision is made, we desire to bespeak for him virtually unanimous support from his home section in case he decides to make the run. It is needless to point out that no man in Virginia public life is better qualified to serve as a Congressman than Samuel L. Ferguson. His record as state senator, his personality, his service to his constituents stamp him as a "man apart," a natural leader and an honored Democrat.

The question is one of whether or not Mr. Ferguson can serve his county and section better in Richmond or in Washington. The position he holds in state governmental affairs lends background to those who lean to the view that he can serve best in his present capacity.

However, we say to him, he has our complete support in whatever decision he reaches. The real issue is to keep him in public life and allow the people to profit by his leadership and public efforts.

Germany Still Shows Military Strength
From Berlin early this week we read dispatches which indicate that Germany has a lot of military strength left yet. The establishment of a military dictatorship over the huge states of Prussia and the establishing of martial law over the famous city of Berlin and the Province of Brandenburg recalls to our minds the many promises, for her military dictates.

Divorces Decrease During Past Year in Virginia

The number of divorces in Virginia decreased from 3,362 in 1930 to 3,130 in 1931. The chief reason for this decrease, by Dr. W. A. Piecker, State Registrar of Vital Statistics, states:

Crops Throughout Virginia

Although during the past week a few sections of Virginia had refreshing showers, the crops as a whole are suffering from the drought. The weather man does not promise any immediate relief and the farmers, who are already heavily hit, are beginning to worry.

Byrd Predicts Virginia Will Be Democratic

If former Governor Harry Flood Byrd's prediction is true the Old Dominion state will be in the Democratic column on November 8. Anyway, that's what Virginia's favorite son thinks. The Republicans think differently, of course.

Ambler Still Fights for Smith

Judge Gordon B. Ambler, Richmond judge and attorney, who has so bravely fought for his client, Garland Smith, charged with the killing of two prohibition agents in Mecklenburg, still wages the legal battle for his client. Smith was recently acquitted of the charge of killing one of the officers. Judge Ambler immediately announced that he would request the Governor to pardon Smith for the alleged killing of the other officer.

Both men fell at one discharge of the jury. A hundred and fifty people attended this attractive affair and a bountiful meal was served.

The July meeting of the C. T. U. was held at the Methodist church Friday afternoon. At this time plans were made for entertaining the Appomattox and Campbell bi-county convention at Pamplin August 11.

Babe Ruth Recovers

Wherever baseball is mentioned the name "Babe" Ruth is likely to pop up. The Babe is recovering from an injury to his leg and his team-mates look to him to join the line-up daily. The Babe, although trailing Fox in homers this year, still the idol of baseball fans.

Speaking of Base Ball

The Brems "pick-up" team lost a close game recently at the plant when Buckingham County defeated the Bluff boys by the tune of 3 to 1. Just before that game the Brems beautifully tossed game, Whiteout from Esmont in a 10-0 rout.

that Germany has repeatedly made about her military strength. The President of Germany, however, states that these precautions were necessary to stop political riots. Germany's many promises, for her military dictates.

Revive Old Industry In Adjoining County

Buckingham, July 27.—Good depression wages have come to a few placer miners who have recently washed the sands along a stream running through the old Booker Mine and have revived interest in this and other almost neglected operations in this county.

Quicksilver is being used to gather the precious metal at the Booker Mine and this method also has been found to pay in a small way at the old London and Virginia Gold and Copper Mining Company's mine.

Some years ago many laborers were employed at surface washing at the Horace Greely mine, while slave labor was employed at the Eldridge Mine nearby. Two forces worked on this section, one through an open cut and the other by tunneling. When the work was discontinued, a steel marker was placed in the ground to mark the line between the two properties.

The story of the Booker Mine is briefly this: Barnett Booker discovered gold on the 24th, John Martin, of Lynchburg, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lee visited in the home of Mrs. R. W. Martin last Sunday.
